Noah and the flood
Genesis 6:5-9:17

The earth filled up with people, but they kept disobeying God and hurting each other. God was sorry He had made them. He decided to send a flood to wash away everyone on earth.

There was a man named Noah who wasn't like the others. Noah loved God and obeyed Him. God decided to spare Noah and his family from the flood.

God warned Noah about the flood. He told him to build an enormous boat with a low roof, three floors, a window, and a door. Noah obeyed God and built it.

God told Noah to collect two of every kind of animal. One male. One female. Then Noah, his family, and the animals went into the boat. God shut the door.

It rained for forty days and forty nights. Water fell from the sky and rose from the oceans and lakes. Even the tallest mountains disappeared beneath the flood.

Meanwhile, Noah, his family, and all the animals were safe in the boat, floating on the flood waters. God had not forgotten about Noah, not even for a moment.

God sent a wind to blow. The waters went down. The boat landed on Mount Ararat. Noah sent out a dove. When it didn't return, he knew it was safe.

When the ground was dry, God told them to come out. He put a rainbow in the sky as a promise that He would never flood the whole earth again.
